

REGION CRITICIZES CARE OF DISABLED

Statement Complains of Unsatisfactory Treatment of Insane and Tubercular Patients

QUESTION VOCATIONAL PLAN

By the Associated Press. Chicago, April 6.—Declaring that the American Legion was not satisfied with the facilities for hospitalization of disabled war veterans, and that the success of the vocational training still is in the balance, A. A. Sprague, chairman of the Legion's Rehabilitation Committee, today asserted that a recent statement by the United States Veterans Bureau which would give the impression that the bureau or the Government is a "benefactor" to the sick and disabled ex-service men.

Sprague asserted that while a large amount of money is paid to disabled service men, the "general public" must realize that the enlisted personnel of the army and navy were not sent to the front against death and accident. In many cases men subtracted one-fourth of their pay for this purpose.

Debt on Part of Government. "Whatever money the Government spends over that which came from the pockets of the men who wore the blue and blue, is a clear debt on the part of the Government, and any attempt to take credit for paying it will be resented, not only by all ex-service men, but by all patriotic citizens."

The statement with reference to hospitalization is restricted to number of patients and cost. It is fair to tell the general public that the Veterans Bureau nor the American Legion has been satisfied with the facilities for hospitalization of these men.

Of the 30,000 ex-service men now in contract institutions. Thousands of mentally disabled men who would have been cured or partially so, with proper care, are still kept in State institutions under conditions which are distressing to all those who believe that they can be cured.

Thousands of tubercular men have been held back in unsatisfactory treatment. Some, within the last few weeks, have been sent back to county poor farms, instead of Government hospitals.

Vocational Training in Balance. "In addition the success of the whole system of vocational training is still in the balance, nearly one-third of the men paid out, because of lack of proper supervision and co-ordination.

The statement that the United States is already doing more for its disabled veterans than any other country in the world is not borne out by our treatment of our insane ex-service men.

The majority of our United States mental cases of ex-service men are sent to or "farmed out" to contract hospitals, these being chiefly State insane asylums.

"No other country has done anything like this. But in this country, with our enormous wealth, we are the ones among the civilized nations of the world who have seen fit to farm out the care of the insane ex-service men."

"If we can prevent it, no one is going to put the complete payment of the debt which this country owes its sick into any other light than that of a national debt on the part of the Government, a debt which this country will never be able to pay with real money and which can only be paid by honest appreciation, fair opportunity and real gratitude."

GETS SIX MONTHS ON RUM CONVICTION; FREE ON WRIT

Bookbinder Counsel Gets Release of Maurice Hertz in Camden

Through a writ of habeas corpus attorney, Emory Bookbinder, restorator, who goes on trial today for alleged violations of the liquor laws, secured the release of Maurice Hertz from the Camden County Jail yesterday. Hertz was sentenced to six months by Judge Lynch at Newark for smuggling into the country $50,000 of liquors on the schooner Thompson.

He is expected to prove one of the most important witnesses in Bookbinder's defense.

The trial of Bookbinder has brought more interested visitors to the corridors outside the Federal Court than any since the Bergdoll cases. It is likely that more than a fifth of those desiring to do so will be able to get into the courtroom.

Bookbinder's attorneys have summoned more than fifty more or less prominent men, former patrons of the restaurant at Second and Walnut streets, as character witnesses. The Government has gathered a formidable number of prohibition officers, customs officials and others who were present when the restaurant was raided, and several trucks full of liquor, much of it imported, carried off.

WOULD ARM ALL NEW YORK IN FIGHT AGAINST CRIME

Civic Society Sends Suggestions to Police Commissioner

New York, April 6.—(By A. P.)—With the city agitated over the number of spectacular crimes since January 1, the New York Society for the City of New York today recommended to Police Commissioner Enright that the entire town be turned into an armed camp.

The society, which appointed a special committee to study means of curbing "the present wave of crime that is sweeping not only this city, but the entire world," reached the conclusion that the only effective police force was composed of men "not less intelligent or conscientious than heretofore," but that citizens themselves should be better armed.

It is urged that the commanding officer of each precinct be directed to get in touch with a certain number of respectable citizens in each block and furnish them arms for assisting police officers. Several banks already have opened pistol ranges to train their employees in self-defense.

Since an armory of about ninety-three handpicks and 109 holdups have been recorded unofficially.

Regrets Suicide Attempt

John C. Moore, 3814 North Fifteenth street, fell unconscious this morning at Fifteenth and Market streets. He was taken to the Hahnemann Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from an overdose of poison. Moore said he was tired of living, but was glad after the attempt, that he did not die. He will be discharged later today.

time another youth, Bernard Donnelly, of Ninth street near Dauphin, has been charged with complicity in the hold-up. The police are still looking for another youth.

You two young men started out on a career of crime," said Judge Daviss as he passed sentence. "Men of your type are dangerous, and too dangerous to be allowed to be at liberty. You committed a crime, and you are now in the hands of the law. You carried loaded guns, and while you have little nerve, nevertheless you might use them and kill somebody."

You have no desire for honest work, and it is the duty of this Court to inflict punishment. This epidemic of crime and hold-ups must be checked. The Court will do this part, and I for one propose to do all I can to stop it."

MRS. JULIA HAZZARD FILES FOR CONGRESS NOMINATION

Editor of Main Line Social Publication to Oppose T. S. Butler

Mrs. Julia R. Hazzard, editor of the Swarthmore News, a weekly social paper of the Main Line, today will file her petition for nomination for Congress on the Republican ticket. Mrs. Hazzard is well known in Main Line social circles, and during the war was active in Red Cross work and in food conservation campaigns. She is an ardent "dry."

The liquor question is expected to prove the crux of the fight in the Seventh Congressional District, which comprises Chester and Delaware Counties. Congressman Thomas S. Butler, the incumbent, voted for the Volstead amendment, but is believed to be in favor of modification. A statement is expected from him soon, clarifying the situation.

Until several days ago Congressman Butler apparently had no opposition. Now there are three opponents in the field. Besides Mrs. Hazzard are former Congressman John B. Robinson, who was defeated by Congressman Butler twenty-two years ago. Butler has served continuously ever since. Robinson is known as "Fighting Jack." Another candidate is Richard J. Baldwin, a former member of the State Legislature, who served as Speaker of the House in 1919. Both Robinson and Baldwin are wets.

ARMY MAN, MISSING AFTER DIVORCE, MAY BE SUICIDE

First A. W. O. L. at San Francisco Post in Seventy-three Years

San Francisco, April 6.—(By A. P.)—Army officers at the Presidio today admitted that Lieutenant Ralph J. Mitchell has been absent from his command at Fort Miles since January 23. He is the first officer to be marked "absent without leave" at the Presidio in its seventy-three years of existence as a United States army post.

Lieutenant Mitchell recently was divorced by Mrs. Edith Olive Jenkins Mitchell. In her petition for the divorce Mrs. Mitchell stated that her husband had threatened to commit suicide. His friends said he was mentally depressed for weeks before his disappearance.

A watch was set on the bay shore near the Presidio the day after his disappearance and had been maintained until today.

HICKS WILL IS PROBATED

Former Postmaster's Estate, Valued at $9700. Goes to Widow

The will of Thomas L. Hicks, former Postmaster and former Director of Public Safety, was admitted to probate today. He died at his home, 517 South Forty-second street, March 28, of heart disease. He left $9700 to his widow, Marguerite A. Hicks.

3 PHILADELPHIANS KILLED IN CRASH

Fred Sigmund, Mrs. Theresa Eberle and Daughter Lose Lives as Train Hits Auto

ACCIDENT AT MOHRSVILLE

Three Philadelphians were killed late yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad express train at Mohrsville, near Reading.

They were Fred Sigmund, forty, of 3420 North Sixth street; Mrs. Theresa Eberle, twenty-eight, 3033 North Reese street, and her ten-year-old daughter, Theresa.

Their machine was struck on a grade crossing. It was dragged along the track for several hundred yards before the train was stopped. Then the car burst into flames and was destroyed.

The bodies of the three victims were picked up along the railroad embankment. Sigmund and the little girl were killed instantly, but the mother lived for a few hours, dying before medical assistance could reach her. The bodies were taken to the morgue in Reading. Mrs. Eberle was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilton, of Marshall street near Huntingdon. A sister living with her parents is said to be dying and news of the accident was kept from her.

OLIVIA STONE MURDER CASE GOES TO JURORS

Accused Slayer of Kinkead is Confident of Acquittal

New York, April 6.—(By A. P.)—The case of Olivia M. Stone, charged with the murder of Ellis G. Kinkead, of Cincinnati, went to the jury at 11:25 o'clock today.

As she left the jail for court she said she was confident she would be freed and be back with her mother by tonight.

The prosecution, in summing up yesterday, said the case was a test of the supremacy of American law.

Kinkead, former corporation counsel, of Cincinnati, was shot and killed near his home in Brooklyn August 5, 1921. Miss Stone was indicted on a charge of murder in the first degree, to which she pleaded not guilty. Her defense was that Kinkead betrayed her. Her counsel contended that she had been legally wedded to Kinkead in Atlantic City in 1918, by a common-law marriage, and that later Kinkead deserted her and married Marie Louise Kinkead, of Cincinnati, whom Miss Stone counsel painted as a woman of the underworld.

The defense charged that a political ring in Cincinnati, friendly to Kinkead, had come to New York to "take away the life of 'a good Southern girl.'"

NAB 22 MEN, 13 WOMEN

Alleged Proprietors of Houses Held in Bail, Others Fined

Twenty-two men and thirteen women were brought before Magistrate Besenhan in Central Station today, captured last night in two big raids. The raiders said they found drinking and noisy revelry in the houses.

Paul Hays, who has a restaurant and rooming house at Thirtieth and Chestnut streets, was held in $1000 bail for the Grand Jury, charged with keeping a disorderly house. Six girls and forty-two men, mostly sailors, taken in the raid, were fined $12.50 each or thirty days in jail.

The raiders also visited a house in South street near Twelfth and arrested seven women and eight men, all Negroes. The alleged proprietress of the house, Louise Brathan, was held in $1000 bail for the Grand Jury, while the six other women were held in $400 bail each as inmates. The eight men were fined $12.50 each or thirty days in jail.

DAUGHTERS AID MAN'S SUIT

Side With Father, Frederick J. Engard, of Wyndmoore

Norristown, Pa., April 6.—The unusual spectacle of two daughters testifying against their mother in the father's suit for a separation on the ground of desertion was witnessed in the proceedings brought by Frederick J. Engard of Wyndmoore, against his wife, Jennette.

The daughter, Maria Mullin, of Norristown, and Jennie Kerpen, of Wyndmoore, testified that Mrs. Engard preferred to live with other persons than with her husband, Frederick J. Engard, who lives on Willow Grove avenue, Wyndmoore. They were married July 1, 1906, at St. Martin's Episcopal Church, Chestnut Hill. The alleged desertion took place July 13, 1919.

'FATTY'S' DEFENSE CLOSING

Decision Expected Today on Evidence Once Contested

San Francisco, April 6.—(By A. P.)—Defense counsel today neared completion of its structure of evidence in the trial of "Fatty" Arbuckle on a manslaughter charge.

The appearance of the defendant on the witness stand yesterday was considered one of the closing moves in the effort to prove that a chronic ailment caused the death of Miss Virginia Rappe after a party in Arbuckle's hotel suite.

Counsel today looked for decisions from the court as to admissibility of evidence contested at the time of its introduction, including that of Mrs. Virginia Breig, secretary of the sanitarium where Miss Rappe died. Mrs. Breig testified Miss Rappe told her Arbuckle attacked her.

Dr. Abernathy Not Sure President Sings, but He Turns Leaves of Hymn Book

HITS APATHY TO CHURCH

Dr. W. S. Abernathy, of Calvary Baptist Church, Washington, President Harding's pastor, gave a Lenten sermon in Philadelphia today.

He is a tall, square-jawed man with crisp gray hair, long, shaggy eyebrows, even teeth and a square chin. He wears a morning coat and waistcoat, striped trousers and a cravat that is vaguely clerical. He speaks as one possessed of infinite patience and tolerance for human foibles.

LIMIT SHOP WORK IN HARD COAL ZONE

1000 Mechanics Temporarily Laid Off at Pottsville—Rigid Policy of Economy

R. R. PLANTS ON PART TIME

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger

Pottsville, Pa., April 6.—The Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company made a new move in the strike today, when it laid off the entire force of 1000 mechanics at the colliery repair shops here until next Monday. Next week the men will start on a three days a week program, which will be followed until the end of the strike.

This action was a disappointment to the employees, who have a vast amount of work waiting for them in placing the idle collieries in good shape, but the company does not care to spend the money for this purpose just now.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railway shops at Cresona and Schuylkill Haven are on a four days a week schedule and the Lehigh Valley Railroad has placed its Delano repair shops on three days a week.

These moves all indicate the most stringent economy, while the income of big corporations is cut off by the idle collieries in the region with empty cars, which are being placed near the mines, convenient for use when the anthracite and Reading Railway operators wish to see whether bituminous wages are going to go down or up before signing a scale made many pessimistic today of an early settlement.

"If that is true, our chiefs will be still negotiating on the 4th of July," said one leader.

If there is to be another lowering of bituminous prices the anthracite operators will find it necessary to lower prices also, and in that event will insist on lower wages, since the steam sizes of anthracite are directly affected by bituminous competition.

Hazleton, Pa., April 6.—(By A. P.)—The Hazleton Store Company, operating stores at West Hazleton and Hazleton, contrary to the custom heretofore followed at almost all coal company establishments, is giving food supplies on credit to anthracite miners during the suspension and will collect when they resume work. This credit was not extended generally, but to those men who have been in the service of the Hazleton Store Company for some time.

Seranton, April 6.—Eight hundred men will be made idle at the Seranton shops of the Lackawanna Railroad Monday, it was announced by H. C. Manchester, superintendent of the C. P. Power today. The layoff of so many men will virtually mean the closing down of the Lackawanna shops. It is understood, lack of repair work brought about by the suspension of mining, is the reason for the laying off of the men.

BABY IN CISTERN, BOY, 4, SAVES HIM

Westville, N. J., Lad Seizes Collar and Holds Head Above Water

SORRY HE MUSSED WAIST

A heroic four-year-old boy saved his little brother from drowning late yesterday in a well in the yard of his home in Westville, N. J., acting with the greatest coolness and taking the quickest possible course to save his brother.

Harry Duer, who is just two years old, was running about the yard of his home, 313 Summit avenue, playing with his brother Frank, who is four. There is a cistern in the yard, used to take the waste water from the kitchen. The cover slipped and in Harry plunged.

Mrs. Charles Duer, the mother, was at work in the kitchen. Frank had two courses open one way, to the childish thing and her screaming for his mother; the other was to save his little brother himself, and he chose the latter course. Lying on his stomach, he reached into the cistern and seized the baby by the collar. Then he held on and yelled for some one to come to his assistance.

The water in the cistern was deep, well over the baby's head, but Frank clung to him grimly. Several persons passed, but they did not hear the child's cries. Frank was getting weaker, but he stuck to his mother. Margaret Schraeder, the twelve-year-old daughter of a neighbor, passed by and heard the child's calls.

Running into the yard, she reached into the cistern and lifted Harry out, wet, covered with slime, but none the worse. Then the boys went into the house to their mother.

"I tried to hold him up by his hands, but he squirmed so I had to hold on to his collar and muss it all up."

Thoroughly exhausted, Frank curled up on the couch in the parlor and fell asleep at once, and slept for hours. By the time he awoke again the reaction had set in, and he was a very sick boy all night. Today, however, he is fully recovered.

It is certain the baby was in over his head, as his cap, tied under his chin, was soaked when he reported to his mother for a change of clothes.

Frank and Harry were playing about the cistern in the garden when the cover slipped. They were willingly enough over to the cistern to have their photographs taken, but the cover has not yet been repaired, and when the baby stepped on it, where Lydia ran to at the time no one seems to know, but she promptly disappeared when Harry went into the cistern, cautiously reappearing later when it all was over.

PRIMARY FILING CLOSING TONIGHT

Total of 1081 Petitions Were Already in Up to Last Evening

MAY BE 1000 MORE TODAY

By the Associated Press

Harrisburg, Pa., April 6.—The period for filing nominating petitions for the uniform primary for election of candidates for State offices, congressional and legislative seats and election of members of State committees will close tonight.

Names submitted will be certified by the State Bureau of Elections to County Commissioners for printing on the ballots for the primary, May 16.

When the office closed last night 1051 petitions of all kinds had been entered, and predictions of the filing today ran from 600 to 1000.

For the first time names of women appeared in considerable number on the lists. In the last few years several women, wets, presented as candidates, but this year more than score already are listed, including State committee candidates.

More Rejections This Year

More petitions have been rejected this year than heretofore, because of defective affidavits, or lack of them, and for inadequate number of signatures.

Among the Congressional petitions entered today were those of William T. Ellis, Democratic, Eighth District, composed of Delaware and Chester Counties; B. F. Davis, Democratic, Tenth; Charles F. Berkenmeyer, Democratic, Fourteenth; Aron S. Kreider and Henry M. Stone, Republican, Sixteenth; Earl W. Rothrock, Republican, Democratic and Labor Twenty-first; Samuel F. Gladfelter, Democratic, Twenty-second; Charles I. Baddis, Democratic, Twenty-fifth; Harold M. Rea, Joseph W. Smith, Republican, Twenty-sixth; Patrick McLane, Republican and Democratic, Eleventh; Stephen Geyer Potter, Republican, Thirtieth; Paul A. Sturart, Republican, Thirty-third.

These Filed for Senate

Senatorial papers were filed by Jonas P. Moyer, Democratic, Sixteenth; George B. Sprrows, Democratic, Forty-sixth; Robert W. Armstrong, Democratic, Twentieth; John D. Ortlip, Socialist, Twelfth; S. Augustus Davis, Democratic, Twenty-second.

Representative Richard S. Outley, Clinton, filed papers
